Engineering

The use of Natural Science processes and knowledge as the means to achieve a particular practical result for human society

See also

Natural Science