

Donwhole pressure pulser modem

Downhole device which transfer digital data from logging tool into a pressure pusle sequences propagating to the surface where it is captured by surface pressure pulse receiver and transformed into electrical signals recorded by a desktop computer